Equities of the plaintiff.

16. If a plaintiff or petitioner claims to be entitled to any equitable estate or rights, or to relief upon any equitable ground against any deed, instrument or contract or against any right, title or claim whatsoever asserted by any defendant or respondent in the cause or matter, or to any relief founded upon a legal right which before the 1st day of November, 1875 could in England only have been given by a Court of Equity, the Court or Judge shall give to the plaintiff or petitioner the same relief as would be given by the High Court of Justice in England in a suit or proceeding for the same or a like purpose.

Equitable defences.

17. If a defendant claims to be entitled to any equitable estate or right, or to relief upon any equitable ground against any deed, instrument or contract or against any right, title or claim asserted by any plaintiff or petitioner in the cause or matter or alleges any ground of equitable defence to any such claim of the plaintiff or petitioner, the Court or Judge shall give to every equitable estate, right or ground of relief so claimed, and to every equitable defence such and the same effect by way of defence against the claim of the plaintiff or petitioner as the High Court of Justice in England would give if the like matters had been relied on by way of defence in any suit or proceeding instituted in that Court for the like purpose.

Counterclaim and third parties.

18. (1) The Court or Judge shall have power to grant to any defendant in respect of any equitable estate or right or other matter or equity and also in respect of any legal estate, right or title claimed or asserted by him or her—

- (a) all such relief against any plaintiff or petitioner as the defendant has properly claimed by his or her pleading, and as the Court or Judge might have granted in any suit instituted for that purpose by that defendant against the same plaintiff or petitioner; and
- (b) all such relief relating to or connected with the original subject of the cause or matter, claimed in like manner against any other person,

* Note: Sections 13 to 37 inclusive have been renumbered accordingly.

whether already a party to the cause or matter or not, who has been duly served with notice in writing of the claim pursuant to rules of court or any order of the Court, as might properly have been granted against that person if he or she had been made a defendant to a cause duly instituted by the same defendant for the like purpose.

(2) Every person served with any such notice as aforesaid shall thenceforth be deemed a party to the cause or matter with the same rights in respect of his or her defence against the claim as if he or she had been duly sued in the ordinary way by the defendant.

Equities appearing incidentally.

19. The court or judge shall take notice of all equitable estates, titles and rights and all equitable duties and liabilities appearing incidentally in the course of any cause or matter in the same manner in which the High Court of Justice in England would recognise and take notice of the same in any suit or proceeding duly instituted therein.

Defence or stay instead of injunction or prohibition.

20. No cause or proceeding at any time pending in the High Court or in the Court of Appeal shall be restrained by prohibition or injunction but every matter of equity on which an injunction against the prosecution of any such cause or proceeding might formerly have been obtained whether unconditionally or on any terms or conditions, may be relied on by way of defence thereto:

Provided that—

- (a) nothing in this Act shall disable the High Court or the Court of Appeal, if it thinks fit so to do, from directing a stay of proceedings in any cause or matter pending before it; and
- (b) any person, whether a party or not to any such cause or matter who would formerly have been entitled to apply to any court to restrain the prosecution thereof, or who may be entitled to enforce, by attachment or otherwise, any judgment, decree, rule or order, in contravention of which all or any part of the proceedings in the cause or matter have been taken, may apply to the High Court or to the Court of Appeal, as the case may be, by motion in a summary way, for a stay of proceedings in the cause or matter, either generally, or so far as may be necessary for the purposes of justice, and the Court shall thereupon make such order as shall be just.

Common law and statutory rights and duties.

21. Subject to the provisions of this Act for giving effect to equitable rights and other matters of equity, the High Court and the Court of Appeal and each Judge thereof shall recognise and give effect to all legal claims and demands, and all estates, titles, rights, duties, obligations and liabilities existing by the common law or by any custom, or created by any statute, in the same manner as these matters have hitherto been recognised and given effect to.

Determination of matters completely and finally.

22. The High Court and the Court of Appeal respectively in the exercise of the jurisdiction vested in them by this Act shall in every cause or matter pending before the Court grant either absolutely or on such terms and conditions as the Court think just, all such remedies whatsoever as any of the parties thereto may appear to be entitled to in respect of any legal or equitable claim or matter so that, as far as possible, all matters in controversy between the parties may be completely and finally determined, and all multiplicity of legal proceedings concerning any of these matters avoided.

Rules of equity to prevail.

23. In all matters in which there was formerly or is any conflict or variance between the rules of common law with reference to the same matter the rules of equity shall prevail.

Declaratory order.

24. No action or proceeding shall be open to objection on the ground that merely declaratory judgment, decree or order is sought thereby and the Court may make binding declarations of right whether any consequential relief is or could be claimed or not.

Mode of trial.

25. (1) Subject as hereinafter provided, any action to be tried before the High Court may, in the discretion of the Court or a Judge, be ordered to be tried with or without a jury:

Provided that the mode of trial shall be by a Judge without a Jury unless upon the application of any party to the action, a trial with a jury is ordered.

(2) Any party to the action may, within ten days after the action has been set down for trial, apply to have the action tried with a jury, and if the Court or a judge is satisfied that—

- (a) a charge of fraud against the party; or
- (b) a claim in respect of libel, slander, malicious prosecution, false imprisonment, seduction or breach of promise of marriage, is in issue, the action shall be ordered to be tried with a jury unless the Court or a Judge is of opinion that the trial thereof requires any prolonged examination of documents or accounts or any scientific or local investigation which cannot conveniently be made with a jury but save as aforesaid the granting of a jury shall in every case be discretionary.

(3) The provisions of this section shall be without prejudice to the power of the High Court or a Judge to order, in accordance with rules of court, that different questions of fact arising in any action be tried by different modes of trial, and where any such order is made the provisions of this section requiring trial with a jury in certain cases shall have effect only as respects questions relating to any such charge or claim as aforesaid.

(4) For the purposes of this section, the expression “action” means a civil proceeding commenced by writ or in such other manner as may be prescribed by rules of Court but does not include a criminal proceeding by the Crown.

Granting of mandamus, etc.

26. (1) A mandamus or an injunction may be granted or a receiver appointed by an interlocutory order of the High Court or of a Judge thereof in all cases in which it appears to the Court or Judge to be just or convenient that the order should be made and any such order may be made either unconditionally or upon such terms and conditions as the Court or Judge thinks just.

(2) If an injunction is prayed for, either before or at, or after the hearing of a cause or matter to prevent a threatened or apprehended waste or trespass the injunction may be granted if the High Court or a Judge of the High Court thinks fit—

(a) whether the person against whom the injunction is sought—

(i) is or is not in possession under a claim or title or otherwise; or

(ii) if out of possession, does or does not claim under any colour of title a right to do the act sought to be restrained; and

(b) whether the estates claimed by both or by either parties are legal or equitable.

Execution of Instrument by order of court.

27. Where any person neglects or refuses to comply with a judgment or order directing him or her to execute any conveyance, contract or other document, or to endorse any negotiable instrument, the High Court may on such terms and conditions, if any as may be just, order that the conveyance, contract or other document shall be executed or that the negotiable instrument shall be endorsed by such person as the High Court may nominate for that purpose and a conveyance, contract, document or instrument so executed or endorsed shall operate and be for all purposes available as if it had been executed or endorsed by the persons originally directed to execute or endorse it.

Restrictions on Institution of vexatious actions.

28. (1) If, on an application made by the Attorney-General under this section to the High Court, the High Court is satisfied that any person has habitually and persistently and without reasonable ground instituted vexatious legal proceedings, whether in the Court of Appeal, the High Court, the Court of Summary Jurisdiction or in a Magistrate's Court, and, whether against the same person or against different persons, the High Court may, after hearing the person or giving him or her an opportunity of being heard, order that no legal proceedings shall without leave of the High Court or a Judge thereof be instituted by him or her in any Court and such leave shall not be given unless the High Court is satisfied that the proceedings are not an abuse of the process of the Court and that there is prima facie ground for the proceedings.

(2) If the person against whom an order is sought under this section is unable on account of poverty to retain counsel, the High Court shall assign counsel to him or her.

(3) A copy of any order under this section shall be published in the Gazette.

Power of Court to include award of interest in judgment.

29. In any proceedings for the recovery of any debt or damages, in the High Court or Court of Appeal, the court may, if it thinks fit, order that there shall be included in the sum for which judgment is given interest at such rate as it.

as it thinks fit on the whole or any part of the debt or damages for the whole or any part of the period between the date when the cause of action arose and the date of the judgment, but nothing in this section—

- (a) shall authorise the giving of interest upon interest;
- (b) shall apply in relation to any debt upon which interest is payable as of right whether by virtue of any agreement or otherwise; or

Where an appeal has been brought under the provisions of the preceding section and is pending before the Court of Appeal a Judge of the High Court may hear and determine such applications incidental to the appeal and not involving the decision thereof as may be prescribed by rules of court; but an order made under any such application may be discharged or varied by the Court of Appeal.

Powers of Court of Appeal on hearing an appeal.

35. (1) On the hearing of an appeal from any order of the High Court in any civil cause or matter, the Court of Appeal shall have power to—

- (b) draw inferences of fact;
- (c) direct the High Court to inquire into and certify its findings on any question which the Court of Appeal thinks fit to be determined before final judgment in the appeal.

(2) The powers of the Court of Appeal under this section may be exercised notwithstanding that no notice of appeal or respondent’s notice has been given in respect of any particular part of the decision of the High Court by any particular party to the proceedings in Court or that any ground for allowing the appeal or for affirming or varying the decision of that Court is not specified in such notice; and the Court of Appeal may make any order in such terms as the Court of Appeal thinks just to ensure the determination on the merits of the real question in controversy between the parties.

(3) The powers of the Court of Appeal in respect of an appeal shall not be restricted by reason of any interlocutory order from which there has been no appeal.

(4) The Court of Appeal may make such order as to the whole or any part of the costs of an appeal as may be just, and may, in special circumstances, order that such security shall be given for the costs of an appeal as may be just.

Supplementary powers of Court of Appeal.

36. For the purposes of an appeal in any civil cause or matter, the Court of Appeal may, if it thinks it necessary or expedient in the interests of justice—

- (c) receive the evidence, if tendered, of any witness including the appellant who is a competent but not a compellable witness and, if application is made for the purpose of the husband or wife of the appellant, in cases where the evidence of the husband or wife could not have been given at the trial except on such application;
- (d) where any question arising in the appeal involves prolonged examination of documents or accounts, or any scientific or local investigation, which cannot, in the opinion of the Court, conveniently be conducted before the Court of Appeal, order the reference of the question in manner provided by the rules of court for inquiry and report to a special commissioner appointed by the Court, and act upon the report of any such commissioner as far as it thinks fit to adopt it; and
- (e) appoint any person with special expert knowledge to act as assessor in an advisory capacity to the Court in any case where it appears to the Court that such special knowledge is required for the proper determination of the case.

Power of Court of Appeal as to new trials.

37. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section on the hearing of an appeal in any civil cause or matter, the Court of Appeal shall, if it appears to the Court that a new trial should be held, have power to set aside the order appealed against and order that a new trial be held.

(2) On the hearing of an appeal in any civil cause or matter, the following provisions shall apply—

- (a) a new trial shall not be ordered on the ground of misdirection, or of the improper admission or rejection of evidence unless in the opinion of the Court of Appeal some substantial wrong or miscarriage of Justice has been thereby occasioned;
- (b) a new trial may be ordered on any question without interfering with the finding or decision upon any other question; and if it appears to the Court of Appeal that any such wrong or miscarriage of justice as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (a) of this subsection affects part only of the matter in controversy or one or some only of the parties, the Court may order a new trial as to that part only, or as to that party or those parties only, and give final judgment as to the remainder.

(3) On the hearing of an appeal from an order made in any action tried with a jury the following provisions shall apply—

- (a) the Court of Appeal may, if it thinks fit, make any such order as could be made in pursuance of an application for a new trial, or set aside a verdict, finding or judgment of the Court below;

- (b) a new trial shall not be ordered because the verdict of the jury was not taken upon a question which the Judge at the trial was not asked to leave to them unless in the opinion of the Court of Appeal some substantial wrong or miscarriage of justice has been thereby occasioned;
- (c) in any case where the Court has power to order a new trial on the ground that damages awarded by a jury are excessive or inadequate, the Court may, in lieu of ordering a new trial—
 - (i) with the consent of all parties concerned, substitute for the sum awarded by the jury such sum as appears to the Court to be proper;
 - (ii) with the consent of the party entitled to receive or liable to pay the damages, as the case may be, reduce or increase the sum awarded by the jury by such amount as appears to the Court to be proper in respect of any distinct head of damages erroneously included in or excluded from the sum so awarded; but except as aforesaid the Court of Appeal shall not have power to reduce or increase damages awarded by a jury.

Wrong rulings as to sufficiency of stamps.

38. The Court of Appeal shall not grant a new trial or reverse any judgment by reason of the ruling of any Court that the stamp upon any document is sufficient or that the document does not require a stamp.

(Inserted by Act 10 of 1998 as section 38B)

Determination of appeals in certain cases.

44. (1) The Court of Appeal on any such appeal against conviction shall (subject as hereinafter provided) allow the appeal if it thinks that the verdict of the jury should be set aside on the ground that under all the circumstances of the case it is unsafe or unsatisfactory or that the judgment of the Court before whom the appellant was convicted should be set aside on the ground of a wrong decision of any question of law; or that there was a material irregularity in the course of the trial and in any other case shall dismiss the appeal:

Provided that the Court may, notwithstanding that it is of the opinion that the point raised in the appeal might be decided in favour of the appellant, dismiss the appeal if it considers that no substantial miscarriage of justice has actually occurred.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Court of Appeal shall, if it allows an appeal against conviction, either quash the conviction and direct a judgment and verdict of acquittal to be entered, or, if the interests of justice so require, order a new trial.

(3) Where, apart from this subsection—

- (a) an appeal against a special verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity would fall to be allowed; and
- (b) none of the grounds for allowing it relates to the question of the insanity of the accused, the Court of Appeal may dismiss the appeal if of opinion that but for the insanity of the accused the proper verdict would have been that he or she was guilty of an offence other than the offence charged.

(4) On an appeal against sentence the Court of Appeal shall, if it thinks that a different sentence should have been passed, quash the sentence passed at the trial, and pass such other sentence warranted in law by the verdict (whether more or less severe) in substitution therefor as it thinks ought to have been passed, and in any other case shall dismiss the appeal.

(5) An appellant who is to be retried for an offence in pursuance of an order under this section shall be tried upon a fresh indictment preferred by the direction of the Court of Appeal.

(6) The Court of Appeal may, upon ordering a retrial, make such orders as appear to the court to be necessary or expedient for the custody or admission to bail of the appellant pending the retrial, or for the retention pending the retrial of any property, or money forfeited, restored or paid by virtue of the original conviction or any order made on that conviction.

(7) On a retrial ordered under this section, section 193 of the Magistrate's Code of Procedure Act, Cap. 3.17 which deals with the reading of depositions shall not apply to the depositions of any person who gave evidence at the original trial; but a transcript of the shorthand notes or where there are not shorthand notes, of the Judge's notes of the evidence given by any witness at the original trial may, with the leave of the Judge, be read as evidence—

- (a) by agreement between the prosecution and the defence; or
- (b) if the Judge is satisfied that the witness is dead or unfit to give evidence or to attend for that purpose, or is absent from the State, or that all reasonable efforts to find him or to secure his attendance have been made without success, and in either case may be so read without further proof if verified in accordance with rules of court.

Powers of Court in special cases.

45. (1) If it appears to the Court of Appeal that an appellant, though not properly convicted on some count or part of the indictment, has been properly convicted on some other count or part of the indictment, the Court of Appeal may either affirm the sentence passed on the appellant at the trial, or pass such sentence in substitution therefor as it thinks proper, and as may be warranted in law by the verdict on the count or part of the indictment on which the Court of Appeal considers that the appellant has been properly convicted.

(2) Where an appellant has been convicted of an offence and the jury could on the indictment have found him guilty of some other offence, and on the finding of the jury it appears to the Court of Appeal that the jury must have been satisfied of facts which proved him guilty of that other offence, the Court of Appeal may, instead of allowing or dismissing the appeal substitute for the verdict found by the jury a verdict of guilty of that other offence, and pass such sentence in substitution for the sentence passed at the trial as may be warranted in law for that other offence, not being a sentence of greater severity.

(3) Where on the conviction of the appellant the jury have found a special verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity, and the Court of Appeal considers that a wrong conclusion has been arrived at by the Court before which the appellant has been convicted on the effect of that verdict, the Court of Appeal may, instead of allowing the appeal, order such conclusion to be recorded as appears to the Court of Appeal to be in law required by the verdict, and pass such sentence in substitution for the sentence passed at the trial as may be warranted in law.

(4) Where on any appeal it appears to the Court of Appeal that the proper verdict would have been a special verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity the Court may quash the sentence passed at the trial and order the appellant to be kept in custody as a prisoner of unsound mind in the same manner as if such special verdict had been found by the jury.

Supplementary provisions where appeal against special verdict allowed.

46. (1) Where, in accordance with subsection (1) of section 44, an appeal against a special verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity is allowed—

- (a) if the ground, or one of the grounds for allowing the appeal is that the finding of the jury as to the insanity of the accused ought not to stand and the Court of Appeal is of opinion that the proper verdict would have been that he was guilty of an offence (whether the offence charged or any other offence of which the jury could have found him guilty), the court shall substitute for the special verdict a verdict of guilty of that offence, and shall have the like powers of punishing or otherwise dealing with the accused and other powers as the Court before which he or she was tried would have had if the jury had come to the substituted verdict;
- (b) in any other case, the Court of Appeal shall substitute for the verdict of the jury a verdict of acquittal:

Provided that where the offence mentioned in paragraph (a) is one for which the sentence is fixed by law, the sentence shall (whatever the circumstances) be one of imprisonment for life.

(2) The term of any sentence passed by the Court of Appeal in the exercise of the powers conferred by subsection (1)(a) of this section shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, begin to run from the time it would have begun to run if passed in the proceedings in the Court before which the accused was tried.

Revesting and restitution of property on conviction.

47. (1) The operation of any order for the restitution of any property to any person made on a conviction on indictment or otherwise and the operation in any such case of the provisions of section 47 of the Larceny Act, Cap. 4:16 as to the restitution of the property in goods to the owner thereof, shall, (unless the Court before whom the conviction takes place, directs to the contrary in any case in which, in its opinion, the title to the property is not in dispute) be suspended—

- (a) in any case, until the expiration of fourteen days after the date of conviction; and
- (b) in cases where notice of appeal or of application for leave to appeal is given, within fourteen days after the date of conviction, until the determination of the appeal, or where an application for leave to appeal is finally refused, until the determination of the application, and in cases where the operation of any such order, or the operation of the said provisions, is suspended until the determination of the appeal, the order or provisions, as the case may be, shall not take effect as to the property in question if the conviction is quashed on appeal.

(2) Provision may be made by rules of court for securing the safe custody of any property pending the suspension of the operation of any such order or of the said provisions.

(3) The Court of Appeal may, by order, annul or vary any order made on trial for the restitution of any property to any person, although the conviction is not quashed; and the order, if annulled, shall not take effect, and, if varied, shall take effect as so varied.

Supplementary powers of Court of Appeal.

48. For the purposes of an appeal in any criminal cause or matter the Court of Appeal may, if it thinks it necessary or expedient in the interest of justice—

- (a) exercise any or all the powers conferred by section 36 on the Court of Appeal;
- (b) issue any warrant necessary for enforcing any order or sentence of the Court of Appeal:

Provided that—

- (i) in no case shall any sentence be increased by reason of or in consideration of any evidence that was not given at the trial; and
- (ii) whenever the Court of Appeal receives further evidence it shall make such order as will secure an opportunity to the parties to the proceedings to examine every witness whose evidence is taken.

Duty to admit fresh evidence.

49. Without prejudice to the generality of the section 48 of this Act which deals with powers, where evidence is tendered to the Court of Appeal under that section, the Court shall, unless it is satisfied that the evidence if received would not afford any ground for allowing the appeal, exercise its power under that section of receiving it if—

- (a) it appears to it that the evidence is likely to be credible and would have been admissible at the trial on an issue which is the subject of the appeal; and
- (b) it is satisfied that it was not adduced at the trial, but that there is a reasonable explanation for the failure so to adduce it.

Admission of appellant to bail and custody when attending Court.

50. (1) An appellant who is not admitted to bail shall, pending the determination of his or her appeal, be treated in like manner as prisoners awaiting trial.

(2) The Court of Appeal may, if it seems fit, on the application of an appellant, admit the appellant to bail pending the determination of his or her appeal.

Computation of sentence.

51. (1) The time during which an appellant is in custody pending the determination of his or her appeal shall, subject to any direction which the Court of Appeal may give to the contrary, be reckoned as part of the term of any sentence to which he or she is for the time being subject, but the Court shall not give any such direction where leave to appeal has been granted or a certificate has been given under section 41 of this Act or where the case has been referred to it under section 63 of this Act (references by the Chairperson of the Advisory Committee on the Prerogative of Mercy).

(2) Where the Court of Appeal gives a direction under this section, it shall state its reasons for giving the direction.

(3) Provision shall be made by prison rules for the manner in which an appellant, when in custody, shall be brought to any place at which he or she is entitled to be present for the purposes of this Act, or to any place to which the Court of Appeal or any Judge thereof may order him or her to be taken for the purposes of any proceedings of the Court, and for the manner in which he or she is to be kept in custody while absent from prison for such purpose, and an appellant whilst in custody in accordance with those rules shall be deemed to be in legal custody.

Time for appealing.

52. (1) Where a person who is convicted desires to appeal under this Act to the Court of Appeal or to obtain the leave of the Court of Appeal, he or she shall give notice of appeal or notice of his or her application for leave to appeal in such manner as may be directed by rules of court within fourteen days of the date of conviction.

(2) Except in the case of a conviction involving sentence of death, the time within which notice of appeal or notice of an application for leave to appeal may be given, may be extended at any time by the Court of Appeal.

(3) For the purposes of this section, the date of conviction shall, where the Court has adjourned the trial of an indictment after conviction, be the date on which the Court sentences or otherwise deals with the offender.

Stay of execution.

53. In the case of a conviction involving sentence of death or corporal punishment—

- (a) the sentence shall not in any case be executed until the expiration of the time within which notice of appeal or of an application for leave may be given under section 52; and
- (b) if notice is so given, the appeal or application shall be heard and determined with as much expedition as practicable, and the sentence shall not be executed until after the determination of the appeal, or, in cases where an application for leave to appeal is finally refused, of the application.

Judge's notes and report to be furnished on appeal.

54. The Judge before whom a person is convicted shall, in the case of an appeal under this Act against the conviction or against the sentence or in the case of an application for leave to appeal under this Act, furnish to the Registrar, in accordance with rules of court, his or her notes of the trial; and shall also furnish to the Registrar in accordance with rules of court a report giving his or her opinion upon the case or upon any point arising in the case.

Legal assistance to appellant.

55. The Court of Appeal may at any time assign to an appellant, a solicitor and counsel, or counsel only in any appeal or proceedings preliminary or incidental to an appeal in which, in the opinion of the Court, it appears desirable in the interests of justice that the appellant should have legal aid and that he or she has not sufficient means to enable him or her to obtain that aid.

Right of appellant to be present.

56. (1) An appellant, notwithstanding that he or she is in custody, shall be entitled to be present, if he or she desires it, on the hearing of his or her appeal, except where the appeal is on some ground involving a question of law alone, but, in that case and on an application for leave to appeal and on any proceedings preliminary or incidental to an appeal, shall not be entitled to be present except where the rules of court provide that he or she shall have the right to be present, or where the Court gives him or her leave to be present.

(2) An appellant who does not appear at the hearing of his or her appeal by counsel, may present his or her case and argument in writing, and any case or argument so presented shall be considered by the Court.

(3) The power of the Court to pass any sentence under this Act may be exercised notwithstanding that the appellant is for any reason not present.

(4) The reference in subsection (1) of this section to an appellant being in custody shall not include a reference to his or her being in custody in consequence of a special verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Costs of appeal.

57. (1) On the hearing and determination of a criminal appeal from the High Court or any proceedings preliminary or incidental thereto under this Act, no costs shall be allowed on either side.

(2) The expenses of any solicitor or counsel assigned to an appellant under this Act, and the expenses of any witnesses attending on the order of the Court of Appeal or examined in any proceedings incidental to the appeal, and of the appearance of an appellant on the hearing of his or her appeal or on any proceedings preliminary or incidental to the appeal, and all expenses of and incidental to any examination of witnesses conducted by any person appointed by the Court for the purpose, or any reference of a question to a special commissioner appointed by the Court, or of any person appointed as assessor to the Court, shall be defrayed out of monies provided by the Legislature up to an amount allowed by the Court, but subject to any rules of court as to rates and scales of payment.

Duties of Registrar with respect to notices of appeal, etc.

58. (1) The Registrar shall take all necessary steps for obtaining a hearing under this Act of any appeals or applications, notice of which is given to him or her under this Act, and shall obtain and lay before the Court of Appeal in proper form all documents, exhibits, and other things relating to the proceedings in the Court before which the appellant or applicant was tried, which appear necessary for the proper determination of the appeal or application.

(2) If it appears to the Registrar that any notice of an appeal against a conviction, purporting to be on a ground of appeal which involves a question of law alone does not show any substantial ground of appeal, the Registrar may refer the appeal to the Court of Appeal for summary determination, and where the case is so referred, the Court of Appeal may, if it considers that the appeal is frivolous or vexatious, and can be determined without adjourning the same for a full hearing, dismiss the appeal summarily, without calling on any person to attend the hearing or to appear for the Crown thereon.

(3) Any documents, exhibits, or other things connected with the proceedings on the trial of any person on indictment, who, if convicted, is entitled or may be authorised to appeal under this Act shall be kept in custody of the Court of trial in accordance with rules of court made for the purpose, for such time as may be provided by the rules, and subject to such powers as may be given by the rules for the conditional release of any such documents, exhibits or things from that custody.

(4) The Registrar shall furnish the necessary forms and instructions in relation to notices of appeal or notices of application under this Act to any person who demands the same, and to officers of the Court of Appeal and of the High Court, the Superintendent of Prisons and such other officers and persons as he or she thinks fit and the Superintendent of Prisons shall cause those forms and instructions to be placed at the disposal of prisoners desiring to appeal or to make any application under this Act, and shall cause any such notice given by a prisoner in his or her custody to be forwarded on behalf of the prisoner to the Registrar.

(5) The Registrar shall report to the Court of Appeal or some Judge thereof any case in which it appears to him or her that, although no application has been made for the purpose, a solicitor and counsel, or counsel only, ought to be assigned to an appellant under the powers given to that Court by this Act.

(6) In this section and section 59 the expression “Registrar” includes the Chief Registrar and Deputy Registrar of the Court of Appeal.

Shorthand notes, etc.

59. (1) Such records in such manner, whether in writing by shorthand notes or otherwise, or by recordings on electro magnetic tape or by other means as may be prescribed by rules of court shall be taken of the proceedings at the trial of any person on indictment who, if convicted, is entitled or may be authorised to appeal under this Act; and on any appeal or application for leave to appeal a transcript of the records or any part thereof shall be made if the Registrar so directs, and furnished to the Chief Registrar for the use of the Court of Appeal or any Judge thereof.

(2) A transcript of the records taken under subsection (1) of this section shall be furnished to any party interested upon payment of such charges as may be fixed by rules of court.

(3) Rules of Court may also make such provision as is necessary for securing the accuracy of the records to be taken and for the verification of the transcript.

Powers which may be exercised by a Judge of the Court.

determined by the Court as fully constituted for the hearing and determination of appeals under this Act.

Case stated or questions of law reserved.

61. (1) Where any person is convicted on indictment, the trial Judge may state a case or reserve a question of law for the consideration of the Court of Appeal, and the Court of Appeal shall consider and determine such case stated or question of law reserved and may either—

- (a) confirm the judgment given upon the indictment;
- (b) order that such judgment be set aside and quash the conviction and direct a judgment and verdict of acquittal to be entered;
- (c) order that such judgment be set aside, and give instead thereof the judgment which ought to have been given at the trial;
- (d) require the Judge by whom such case has been stated or question has been reserved to amend such statement or question when specially entered on the record; or
- (e) make such other order as justice requires.

(2) The Court of Appeal, when a case is stated or a question of law reserved for its opinion, shall have power, if it thinks fit, to cause the case or certificate to be sent back for amendment and thereupon the same shall be amended accordingly.
